Construction Companies and Home Improvement

During the past 20 years, the building trade has undergone major structural changes.

The do-it-yourself market as well as the professional construction market has grown rapidly. The need for more efficient logistic solutions has crystallized at the same rate.

Green Cargo has together with its clients created innovative solutions to increase the consignees' inbound efficiency by coordinating shipments and reducing the number of delivery times. A large number of shipments to the distribution centre are performed by rail from southern Europe.

Bauhaus and DT Group are important customers in the segment. Green Cargo has together with them created a unique logistics setup which has brought down their logistics costs and reduced the environmental impact. This has formed the basis for a long-term and healthy business relationship and created a win-win situation for all parties, in which sustainable development and environmental impact are brought into focus.

In order to optimize lead time to the market the current assignments in this segment are located in Copenhagen, Helsingborg, and Norrköping.

Control tower

To increase the availability of information from the logistics flow, Green Cargo provides a web portal where information showing different activities and their status is monitored. In addition, reports presenting different statistical data are available.

The system enables customers and receivers, irrespective of haulier, to monitor and follow up their stock and orders.

The Control Tower increases all parties' possibilities of planning and optimization of utilized resources.
